

In a free world, where the playground is for everyone and respect for each and one is good, too many forces want to change that. It has never been a good idea to ask the government to protect one's business if new innovative competitors are starting making business. -That is something that belongs to Communism and Socialistic ideologists. That kind of way to stay in business does not belong in a country like USA regarding its fundamental principals.

Too many people have moved to The USA to be rid of destructive ways of doing business like that. Don't let that tragedy happen here!
